

Official SAT[®] Practice

Free, world-class test practice from Khan Academy[®] and the creators of the SAT

Information and Tips for Parents

1

Encourage your child to sign up and link their College Board and Khan Academy accounts. When they link their accounts they'll get personalized practice recommendations based on their test results from the SAT[®], PSAT/NMSQT[®], and other College Board tests.

2

Help your child build a personalized practice plan at satpractice.org. Once your child has signed up and linked their accounts, watch the overview video in the "Tips & Planning" section to learn about Official SAT Practice. Then, let the site build their personalized study plan based on where they excel and where they need more work. Next, under the "Practice" tab have them practice their personalized recommendations under both Math, and Reading and Writing.

The best way for your child to get ready for the SAT[®] is also free.

3

Encourage them to take a full-length SAT practice test. The College Board recommends that students take at least two full-length practice tests. You should make sure that your child takes one practice test before beginning their practice plan, and then a second test five weeks later to measure their progress. You can download and print practice tests for them at sat.org/scoring.

4

Download the Daily Practice for the New SAT app. Available for download through the Google Play and iTunes app stores, the app provides a question a day that your child can use to build their skills. It also scans and scores paper SAT practice tests, giving them an easy way to track their progress.

How Your Child Can Do Their Best on the New SAT

Learn About the New SAT

Have your child study up on the revised structure, updated test content, and scoring. Check out sat.org for more information.

Start Early

Students should start practicing at least six months before the test, to create a baseline used to measure their progress.

Practice Consistently

Encourage your child to practice at least 30 minutes a day, two times a week, based on their personalized plan from satpractice.org.

Work Hard

The new SAT is aligned to what students are already learning in class, so along with working hard on Official SAT Practice, the most important thing your child can do is take and commit to challenging courses.

Mix Up Their Practice

In addition to taking advantage of Official SAT Practice, make sure your child studies by reading and summarizing long-form texts, creating and solving word problems, and reading editorial content to review argument construction.
